How to Negotiate Your Job Offer

with Christine DiDonato

Getting Clear on What You Want

1. Must-haves When you think about the next 1–3 years, what is most important to you in a career? Rank each element on a scale of importance: 1 = most important, 2 = somewhat important, and 3 = least important.Authority/ability to make decisions or to influence _____ Money/financial gain _____ Collaboration with others _____ Promotion opportunities _____ Competitive environment _____ Recognition _____ Relationships _____ Excitement _____ Flexible schedule/time off _____ Retirement planning _____ Freedom from authority _____ Stability/loyalty _____ Health care Status of title, position, or company _____ Innovation opportunities _____ Travel opportunities _____ Intellectual stimulation _____ Other _____ Leading/coaching others _____ Other _____ Learning opportunities _____ 2. Walkaways What aspects of a new job are nonnegotiable for you? List all the elements you rated a 1 in your must-have list that would prompt you to walk away if they weren't included in a job opportunity. 1. _____ 2. _____ 3. _____ 4. 5. ____